Do you want to change the world?

This workshop will provide you with knowledge and skills to advocate effectively on any issue that you care about.

Participants will use a health issue or theme, to learn practical skills in how to run effective advocacy campaigns. The workshop will be practical, active and targeted at a youth audience.

We will practise the key skills of effective advocacy and campaigning including story telling, working in partnerships, representing the views of others and framing your key messages. By the end of the workshop participants will have planned their very own advocacy campaign.
